MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE

16 - 18 OCTOBER 2020

ADMINISTRATIVE HANDBOOK

Acknowledgments

DSAMUN is proud to be a THIMUN (The Hague International Model United Nations) Affiliated Conference.

Being a member of THIMUN, which is the biggest and most famous Youth Conference in the world, provides us with the opportunity to contribute as DSAMUN Conference in promoting awareness of international relations and issues for young people in an open-minded atmosphere in which students can develop and refine their communication skills, where they can gain insights to enhance their understanding of and learning about politics in a global and international manner. Therefore, we would like to thank the Board of THIMUN, especially Linda Dubock and Irwin Stein for their permission to use their Instructional Guide and their support.

We would also like to thank our school administration, our colleagues and administrative personnel, students, parents, alumni and sponsors who have made these conferences possible and successful ones over the last years.

We wish you all a pleasant online conference this year.

Klio Stamou
Head of the Board of Directors

Preface

This one is a special year – more so as it does not only separate us from each other but also brings us closer together. We are one world. This becomes evident if we look at the pandemic covid-19 crisis as it all affects us in a way that we thought not possible. This crisis has changed us and our world more than we probably can imagine the outcome not clear. One positive element that has come along with this crisis is our ability to adapt. As a school we have learned to use the means that we have at hand to get along and stay in touch with our students. So this year's conference also shows us how we can cope with a difficult situation by staging the 23rd DSAMUN conference online. We have already held our MUN club online which was at the beginning a bit difficult but in the end quite effective. And this is what we will offer to you this year as well: to debate in a new modus. There will be some rules that might be awkward to you but that we hope will make this conference a success like all the other ones.

What we will deeply miss this year is to see you all in person. A conference lives from the encounters you make during a conference and from every single person attending the conference of course. But we also have to lay the focus on a problem that might occur because this conference will be held online and that is the alleged anonymity that we all assume if we talk about an online platform. Let's make this conference especially safe concerning cyber-mobbing and use the means at hand in a supportive way! Together we will find a solution to make this conference a safe one and a success for all of us!

Birgit Boenigk & Anna Papanikolaou
DSAMUN Directors

Secretary
General's preface

Your Excellencies, distinguished guests, esteemed directors, fellow student officers, dear delegates,

It is my profound honor to welcome you to the 23rd session of Deutsche Schule Athen Model United Nations Conference. Despite the adversities of the last months, our common belief that constructive dialogue and respect for the other's opinion can bring unity in our world has gathered us all at this year's conference. Living in an era in which democracy is constantly becoming more indirect, citizens are losing their faith in politics and authoritarian rule is gaining ground in many countries, consciousness raising of the youth on current affairs is urgent. MUN serves this exact purpose; it offers young people the unique opportunity to become open minded and responsible global citizens.

At first glance, it would sound unrealistic and idealistic to claim that an assembly of students from around the globe will directly affect the course of humanity as a whole. However, MUN conferences do not aim at bringing radical political change or constituting the spark that will trigger a social revolution. MUN conferences, such as the DSAMUN, instill the values of social responsibility and respect for the law: values that all active citizens should espouse. Hence, through the familiarization of the youth with such fundamental principles, democracy is actively empowered.

It is a fact that some MUN participants will pursue a career in law, politics or diplomacy. But this is not the point of MUN. Regardless of professional aspirations, through MUN, one develops his critical thinking, shapes a round opinion on global issues and learns how to respect and coexist with people from different cultural and economic background. These are the key traits that everyone should possess in today's contemporary and globalized world.

Throughout the three days of this prestigious conference, delegates will debate upon issues of paramount importance and propose realistic solutions in tackling them. I hope and highly advise all of you to fully exploit this unique experience to freely express your views and thoughts in an ideal, democratic, and multicultural environment.

Thank you.

John Kordas
Secretary General DSAMUN 2020

President of the GA 's preface

Your Excellencies, distinguished guests, esteemed directors, dear student officers and delegates,

In my capacity as the PGA, I welcome you to the annual DSAMUN conference. In the days leading to the conference, I hope that all participants will be able to research and prepare themselves adequately, while enjoying the process as a whole. For MUN is not intended to be an unnecessary labor on the backs of students already studying hard, but it represents an opportunity for them to enjoy themselves all the while engaging in something productive.

But let us address the elephant in the room, corona virus. The global pandemic has forced us, as well as other MUN conferences to take measures in order to protect the health of the delegates and everyone involved. Unfortunately, measures are in and of themselves restraining the scope of the activities that our conference can undertake. However, it would be a folly to surmise that the following conference will be in any way inferior to the previous ones. DSAMUN is a 23-year-old conference and we intend to uphold the reputation of quality that we have so far painstakingly cultivated.

For all participants, I can only give you my earnest recommendation to engage in this year's MUN and grow from the experience.

Thank you.

George Stamatopoulos
President of the GA DSAMUN 2020

Important Information

General Rules of Conduct

It is assumed by virtue of the fact that participants are here for a serious programme that they are mature enough to respect others and to provide a framework within which all MUN participants can operate, with each action in good taste and appropriate to the primary purpose of their being here. Failure to follow these simple guidelines may result in schools not being invited to future sessions.

Dress Code

As a serious simulation, DSAMUN expects personal appearance to be appropriate for a professional setting. Participants should not wear clothing, jewellery, or accessories which are distracting, inappropriate, or which may call attention to themselves – either individually or as a group.

Inappropriate dress includes, but is not limited to:

- Sports shoes & denim clothes
- National costume or military attire

Boys should be dressed in a formal suit, shirt, tie, or similar alternative i.e. blazer or jacket with formal trousers. Girls should be dressed equally formally in suits, smart separates (whether trousers or skirts) or dresses. Low necklines and/or short skirts are not considered appropriate.

PREPARATORY MEETINGS AND LOBBY ON THURSDAY and FRIDAY

STUDENT OFFICERS: PREPARATORY MEETING ON THURSDAY:

The student officers will meet for a preparatory meeting where they will get to know the DSAMUN procedures during our conference. This preparatory meeting is mandatory (BBB Room of General Assembly).

BRIEFING

There will be a briefing for all the student officers before and after the committees' session which will take approximately half an hour (BBB Room General Assembly).

DSAMUN Conference ABC

This year we will organize an online DSAMUN conference and this should essentially be done via the Moodle platform (<https://dsamoodle.de/dsamun>).

Please note the following general rules during the BBB conferences:

To avoid annoying background noises, MUN Advisors, Student Officers, Delegates:

- a. must be in a quiet place without other noises,
- b. it would be good to wear headphones/earphones,
- c. must turn on their microphone only when they allowed to speak.

Every (BBB) Online conference starts with a greeting and ends with a farewell. So everyone starts with picture and sound at the beginning, then follows the phase where the students have the camera and the sound turned off (unless they have to talk) and the teleconference closes again with an open camera and microphones from everyone.

The Chairs (it would be good if the MUN Advisors did the same) will check the presence of the delegates in their Committees at the beginning and end of the teleconference and provide the absences to the DSAMUN Secretariat (secretariatdsamun@gmail.com).

Rules of conduct during an online conference:

The conduct of behaviour includes no disrespect towards the chairs or other members of the committee or members of the conference. This also includes that you switch off your microphone when not speaking and don't interrupt the speeches of others. This online conference requires another form of discipline that a conference staged at our school does not require. So please respect the rules of conduct in your own interest and that of your fellow participants.

It is forbidden to take photos or videos or live recording of the ongoing conference as this violates the personal rights on your own data.

Every single member of this conference is given a code to enter the platform. You are not allowed to forward that code to another person or share the code with someone else.

Approval Panel

The Resolution Processing is entirely digitalised. The Approval Panel for all committees will be in the BBB computer room. Delegates must obtain 10 co-submitters for their draft resolution send it to the DSAMUN Secretariat per email (secretariatdsamun@gmail.com).

Mobile Phones/Portable Audio Equipment

Cellular phones must be switched off in all committees at all times. Portable audio equipment must also be turned off during all meetings.

Message Communication within larger forums (BBB Rooms Public/Private Chat)

Each message on Public Chat (as well on Private Chat, please!) must be written on official and appropriate delegation stationery. The name and the section of the receiving delegation must be clearly written. Messages will be screened and “thrown away” if they contain improper messages. Disciplinary action may be taken by the Student Officers against any delegates abusing the system (Block Public/Private Chat). There will be no messenger service between committees.

Opening Ceremony

The Opening & the Closing Ceremony will take place in the BBB Opening & Closing Ceremony Room I & Room II.

BBB Opening &amp; Closing Ceremony Room I	BBB Opening &amp; Closing Ceremony Room II
ICJ	GA3
GA1	GA4
GA2	GA6
ECOSOC	Environmental Committee
Security Council	Youth Assembly
Special Conference

Part of the Opening Ceremony will be speeches of ambassadors of the embassies in Athens as well as a speech of our headmistress or guest speakers. We expect the students to be attentive during the ceremony.

Smoking Areas

Smoking is not permitted anywhere on the school premises.

Smoking is not permitted during the BBB conferences.

Procedure for processing resolutions

The Procedure for processing resolutions through Approval Panel:

1. Discuss your draft resolution with other delegates during Lobbying and agree on additions, deletions or mergers.
2. Obtain a co-submitter sheet from your Chair and have it signed by a minimum number of delegates - you need at least 10 signatures of different countries.
3. Type up the merged resolutions in the computer room. You have to register for a computer, register with the computer staff, type the resolutions (only 2 delegates per resolution), register it again with the computer staff. They will give the resolution a D-Number.
4. The computer staff will print out 2 copies, one for your Chair, one for you.
5. Go to your Chair and have it approved. Chairs will check the draft resolutions for consistency with the UN Charter and for plagiarism (copying from previous resolutions). If approved, the Chair will sign the draft resolution. He will keep one copy for himself.
6. Go with the signed draft resolution to the Approval Panel (next computer room). Register with the computer staff. One teacher will correct grammar and spelling of the resolution together with one delegate per resolution.
7. Computer staff will register the corrected version and give it an A-(Approved).
8. Computer staff will print out 3 copies: one for you, one for the computer staff, one for photocopying for the committee.
9. Return to your committee, inform your Chair that your resolution has been approved and wait for it to be discussed.
10. Please observe the following rule: You may submit or co-submit only one resolution on any one issue, i.e. you may sign altogether 3 resolutions, but on three different topics.

General rules

All delegates should be aware that the rules are intended to facilitate debate and to accord to all members their democratic right to voice an opinion. The Student Officers will apply the rules to this end and will not tolerate the abuse or misuse of the rules for obstructive or restrictive purposes.

United Nations Charter	Delegations should, at all times, act in accordance with the articles and principles of the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
Diplomacy	Each delegate must act according to diplomatic norms, including the duty to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• respect the decisions of the Chair at all times;</li> <li>• obtain the floor before speaking;</li> <li>• stand when speaking;</li> <li>• yield the floor when the Chair requests it;</li> <li>• be courteous at all times;</li> <li>• avoid the use of insulting or abusive language.</li> </ul>
Opening Speeches	Each delegation will have the floor of his/ her committee for one minute, before the committee commences with lobbying. This should be treated as a serious occasion. The delegation's opening speech must be representative of their nation's policy on each of the committee's topics.
Right of Reply to Opening Speeches	Following the delivery of seven opening speeches, two rights of reply will be entertained by the President. Such replies must refer to one of the preceding opening speeches.
Parliamentary Procedure	Expect where otherwise adapted or limited by conference by-laws, Robert's Rules of parliamentary procedure are used. In general, the Student Officers will know the proper procedure, how to apply the rules. They are available to give help and information and delegates should not be afraid to ask for clarification or explanation of the rules. This is most easily done by rising to a point of order, a point of information to the Chair or a point of parliamentary enquiry. At most conferences, such points are not allowed to interrupt a speech.
Powers of the President/ Chair during Formal Debate	The President/ Chair will propose the limitation of debate time for each motion. When debate time has been exhausted, the President/ Chair will propose either the extension of debate time or the closure of debate and subsequent vote on the question being considered (the Previous Question). Since a high degree of consensus is aimed at, open debate is the norm except on really contentious issues, where the President/ Chair may propose closed debate. The President/ Chair may, in the interest of debate or in order to work towards consensus, call upon a particular delegation to speak, even if they have not requested the floor. The President/ Chair may also, for the same purposes, restrict the speaking time of an individual delegate. The limitations of debate time will include the time taken for replies to points of information but will not include the time taken for questions put to the speaker or for other interruptions.

The President/ Chair will announce the guillotine time (the absolute maximum debate time for any resolution) to the assembly.

The President/ Chair may call recesses or adjournments. A two-thirds vote against the Chairs decision is required for such an appeal to be upheld.

Quorum	A majority of the total membership of each forum shall constitute a quorum.
Amendments to the Agenda &amp; to Resolutions	Amendments can only be submitted by a speaker who has the floor. Proposed amendments to the agenda may be submitted in each forum at the start of business. The purpose of proposed amendments to the resolutions is to improve the resolution with the object of achieving a wider consensus. When an amendment is moved to a proposal, the amendment is voted on before the vote is taken on the main motion. If a second amendment (amendment to the amendment) is moved, it will be voted on before the vote is taken on the main amendment. If the adoption of the second amendment necessarily implies the acceptance or rejection of the first amendment, the first amendment is not put to the vote.
Referring a Resolution or Question	A resolution or question may be referred to another Council, Commission or Committee e.g. to the Security Council. The desirability of referral is debatable. It requires a majority vote.
Reconsideration and Tabling	Once a resolution has been formally adopted or rejected by a vote of the assembly concerned, it may only be reconsidered after all business on the agenda has been dealt with, and normally requires a two-thirds majority in favor of reconsideration. Tabling, or laying a resolution on the table temporarily disposes of it. A motion to table a resolution is not debatable and requires only a simple majority in favor. A two-thirds majority is needed to take matters from the table, however.
Yielding the Floor to the other delegations	The floor may be yielded by one delegation to another only once consecutively.
Rising to Points	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A Point of Personal Privilege must refer to the comfort and well being of the delegate. It may not refer to the content of any speech and may only interrupt a speaker if the speech is inaudible.</li> <li>• A Point of Order may relate to procedural matters only.</li> </ul>

- A Point of Information may be directed to the Chair or to the speaker who has the floor if he has indicated that he is willing to yield to points of information. A point of information must be formulated as a question, although a short introductory statement of reference may precede the question. A Follow-up question or series of questions from the same questioner are usually not in order.
- A Point of Parliamentary Enquiry is a point of information directed to the Chair concerning the rules of procedure.
- A speech may not be interrupted by any point except a point of personal privilege referring to audibility.
- All other points are dealt with only when the speaker yields the floor either to points of information to another delegate, or to the President/ Chair.

The Previous Question

Moving the Previous Question calls for the closure of debate and for a vote to be taken on the motion pending. It may be moved by the President/ Chair or a speaker who has the floor.

Voting

- Only member states of the United Nations may vote. In the event of a close result, the President/ Chair may institute a roll-call vote, in which each member's name is called in turn and its vote recorded.
- After the President/ Chair has announced the start of voting procedures, no interruptions will be allowed except for points of order connected with the actual conduct of the voting.
- Abstentions do not count either for or against the adoption of a motion, i.e. a resolution will pass if the number for exceeds the number against regardless of the number of abstentions.
- Veto Rights: The Security Council will apply the special provisions concerning voting as stated in the UN Charter.
